Junior Class Play, "Miss Adventure," Set for Nov. 14-15

Amateur Thespians Hard at Work in Rehearsals of Comedy

Miss Genevieve Darrow, dramatic coach at Antioch High school, reports that rehearsals for the Junior Class play, "Miss Adventure," to be presented on Friday and Saturday evenings of next week, are well underway, and that the members of the cast are gaining in confidence and smoothness daily.

The play, which is a rollicking comedy of life in a girl's school, features Annabel Barthel, as Miss Josephine Carter, a tom-boy who is forced to attend a girl's school. The hilarious situations start when she tires of the stuffiness of the life at the school and runs away, dressing as a man and hires out as a farm hand.

Albert Brown, the farmer, is played by Robert Simon. Other members of the cast include Norma Jarnigo as Sue; Jane Hunter as Betty; June Hunter as Peggy; all college girls; Wayne Polsgrove as Samson, janitor at the school; Joan Smoe as Miss Prim, head of the school; Verna Kufalk will play the part of Sarah Haskins, housekeeper for Albert Brown. Marilyn Ries will portray Rebecca Haskins, the housekeeper's daughter; George Miller will appear as Cyrus, the Brown farm hired hand; Elsie Farnsworth will play the part of Mrs. John Carter, mother of Josephine; extra college girls will be portrayed by Jacqueline Schroeder, Beverly Lasco, Joan Hughes and Elaine Geng.

Committee are hard at work on the various phases of the undertaking and tickets are now being sold by members of the class under the direction of Marlene Nader, Elaine Geng and Jacqueline Schroeder, ticket committee members. Joanne Dietrich, Arlene Popp, James Zimmerman and Ronald Hendrickson are in charge of properties. Advertising committee members include Lynette Keating, Dorothy Py, Nancy Reeves and Joan Hughes.

Advance interest in the play and ticket sales indicate that a capacity crowd will be on hand to see the play.

Miss May Hartley spent the weekend at Aledo with her father.

Village Trustees Get New Badges of Office, They're Only Decorative

Members of the village board received badges this week indicating their position in the village government. While they and most of the citizens are aware of their election to office, the badge may be worn on special occasions when there are visitors.

The use of the badge is an old custom in the village. President George B. Bartlett has had one since 1922. The president's is gold colored and the trustees silver colored. The purchase was made six months ago at a nominal cost since the badges are not of precious metal.

The insignia has the size and appearance of a policeman's badge and bears the word trustee or president. Except in the case of the president the badges do not indicate any police power other than that any citizen would have because the trustees are legislators and not administrators.

The president of the board is an administrative officer and as such is at the head of the police department in the same way the president of the United States is head of the army and navy.

Business Growth Seen In Building Permits Given Three Merchants

Grocery, Furniture Store Garage to Get New Quarters

Evidence of Antioch's expanding business district was given at Tuesday night's session of the village board when three merchants obtained permits to construct business rooms.

Most extensive of the permits was that given William A. Rosing, Sr., of the Ford garage who already has started construction of a cement block building 50x129 feet in dimension adjacent to the garage for use by the National Tea Co. The cost will be approximately $25,000.

The grocery now occupies a part of the garage building which was taken over during the war. The Ford agency now wants the use of the room for its display and sales.

Clarence Hansen was permitted to begin the erection of a brick front store building in front of his two flat building at 433 Lake st. He will move his furniture store from the building across from the postoffice to the new room which will be 30x48 feet in size and will have two large display windows. The cost will be $7,000 without wiring and fixtures. Trustee James Maplethorpe obtained a permit to enlarge his garage on North Main st., at a cost of $5,000. It will give the firm the needed room for expanding business and a chance to display merchandise better. More room will also be afforded in the shop. The entire length of the lot will be used.

J. J. Meyer, Lake Villa Contractor, Kills Self Friday

Coroner's Jury Blames Extreme Despondency for Death

John J. Meyer, wellknown carpenter contractor of Lake Villa, died early last Friday morning, of a head wound described as "a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the head, fired with suicidal intent. A coroner's jury, convened Saturday, reported this verdict. It is believed that despondency, due to his failure to effect reconciliation with his former wife, was a contributing cause of the suicide.

Meyer came to the United States in 1910 from Langerswag, Netherlands, where he was born November 3, settling in Sheldon, Iowa and coming to Lake Villa in 1917, making his home there until the time of his death. He was engaged in the building trades throughout the community and enjoyed a good reputation as a builder.

He is survived by his former wife, Alice, two daughters, Mrs. Charlotte Wagner, of Lake Villa and Mrs. Dorothy Sharp, of Burlington, Wis.; a son, John, Jr., also of Lake Villa and one brother, Herman of Libertyville as well as six grandchildren.

The Rev. Dwight V. Dixon of Lake Villa conducted a private funeral service at the Strang Funeral home on Monday and burial was at Angola cemetery.

300 Children Take Part in Halloween Festivity

Three hundred children took part in the Halloween parade followed by a party at the Antioch theatre last Friday night.

It was one of the largest and finest parades of the kind that the village has ever held. The costumes were especially good and the judges commented on their perfection and originality.

Richard Whitaker, principal of the grade school, who had charge of the event, said that 64 prizes were awarded among the 292 children in costume. The prizes were given according to grades and pre-school age. Six prizes, 3 prizes each for boys and girls, were awarded in each age group and Fred B. Swanson, manager of the theatre, made a special award for the Grand prizes with Charles Caddy, 4 years old, winning in the boys division and Rose Ann McGreal winning for the girls.

All were given a treat and were entertained with a movie. The Antioch theatre and the Antioch News were hosts and supplied the prizes and treats.

Antioch Scouts Given Aid in Aircraft Work, and Boxing Outfit Too

The senior Boy Scouts of Antioch have been taken under the wings of William Horton, Jr., in starting their work on model aircraft. Mr. Horton has agreed to give the boys two hours one night each week when they will construct their own starters for their planes, and will furnish materials.

Impetus to interest in the club was given this week when the Hoof Products Co. of Chicago through its purchasing agent A. M. Sucksdorf gave the boys interested in aircraft a miniature engine to be placed in one of their products. The boys were quite happy over the gift.

Troop 91 also received two sets of boxing gloves from George Wagner of the Antioch Milling Co. This is expected to help the boys take off some of their surplus energy.

The scouts have been ushering at all of the Northwestern home football games. A truck from the Golden Glo dairy has been furnished by Herbert Horton, local dairy owner, in transporting them to Evanston.

These favors are helping Antioch to have one of the best Boy Scout troops in the North Shore area, Harold Cardiff, scoutmaster said.

McGaughy Tells Board To Consider Rerouting of Rte. 21 in Village

Members of the village board were advised to give considerable thought to village planning by Village Attorney George McGaughy during Tuesday evening's meeting when trustees took up the plan to straighten out the street at the west of the proposed new village hall through an exchange of deeds with C. N. Ackerman.

A wide street paralleling Main street a block west is the logical place for highway 21 through the village said McGaughy.

Trustee Walter Scott said that he had already seen state plans that would place Rte 21 east of the Soo line tracks, but McGaughy thought that such a plan would call for too much filling in of low land south of Antioch.

"It would at least provide a way for getting in and out of city property east of the tracks," said President George B. Bartlett who said the village had considered such a move in purchasing that land.

Main street already is considered too narrow and crooked a thoroughfare for, through traffic.

Chicagoan Lands Large Black Bass At Lake Marie

Frank Girtler, of Lake Marie and Chicago, brought in a 4 pound 10 ounce black bass one day last week. Girtler hooked the fish on a Heddon river runt plug, and in addition to the large bass brought in a nice string of smaller fish.

Old-timer fisherman of the region prophesied that with the coming of colder weather, that the bass fishing will improve.

Anton Huber, of Winter, Wis., spent the weekend visiting his aunts, Mrs. John Nakowitz and Mrs. William Horton and cousins, Thelma and Lester, and Mrs. Esther Anderson and friends at Channel lake.

Bids on Sewage Plant To Be Opened Monday in Special Board Session

Bids Promised Where None Was Offered in First Call Recently

A special meeting of the village board has been arranged for Monday, Nov. 10 when bids will be opened for the improvement of the sewage system.

President George B. Bartlett said promises have been received from bidders that they will submit figures at this time. No bids were received through an earlier notice.

The board was informed by the fire department of its willingness to lend the village up to $3,000 for use in the equipping of the new fire truck. The board decided to cash a few bonds to add to the money already in the sinking fund to pay for the truck chassis that will be delivered this week.

The board did not say whether it would accept the offer of the department or not. Attorney George McGaughy suggested that the village give a note to the firm equipping the truck and the fire department buy the note, thereby making the transaction legal which otherwise would not be in a direct loan.

Antioch High Starts Basketball Practice; Defeated in Football

Antioch Township High school turned to basketball this week with the first practice of the varsity on Wednesday evening. The freshmen and sophomores have been hitting the hoop and working on fundamentals for the last 10 days. The first game for both will be on Nov. 18.

Football ended last week with a loss to Barrington by a score of 32 to 0 at Barrington. It meant a total loss of all games for the season, for the sequits and was the most disastrous in many a year. They finished last in league standing.

Grant township's victory over Palatine 38 to 6 gave them a tie with Bensenville for the Northwest League title.

The schedule of the Antioch basketball teams provides for non-conference games with Warren Township High school on Nov. 18 the first of the season, and on Dec. 2. Games also are to be scheduled with Grayslake, and there is a possibility the Sequits will go to the Christmas tournament at Wauconda.

Antioch had but one regular left from last year's team and the season doesn't look too promising, especially at the start.

The conference schedule is as follows:

Friday, Nov. 21—Barrington at Antioch.

Wednesday, Nov. 26—Antioch at Grant.

Friday, Dec. 5—Bensenville at Antioch.

Saturday, Dec. 6—Antioch at Elia.

Friday, Dec. 12—Antioch at Wauconda.

Friday, Dec. 19—Palatine at Antioch.

Friday, Jan. 9—Northbrook at Antioch.

Friday, Jan. 16—Antioch at Barrington.

Friday, Jan. 23—Grant at Antioch.

Friday, Jan. 30—Elia at Antioch.

Friday, Feb. 6—Antioch at Bensenville.

Wednesday, Feb. 11—Wauconda at Antioch.

Friday, Feb. 13—Antioch at Palatine.

Friday, Feb. 20—Antioch at Northbrook.

The paper will be collected after 9 a. m., placed at the curb and a truck will make collection at noon.

The P. T. A. is arranging a card party for Nov. 22 to raise money for school purposes.

Have We Enough Electric Power?

A committee of experts recently completed an exhaustive survey of the nation's electric power supply and the growth of demand. The findings, which are of countrywide interest, have been released by the Edison Electric Institute.

First of all, there is little likelihood of serious power shortages now or in the future. When the winter peak demand occurs in December, there will be a margin of reserve capacity of about 5 per cent for the country as a whole.

From the long-pull standpoint, the most interesting part of the experts' survey deals with the huge construction program now being carried on by the utility industry. Two months ago, installation of new generating capacity caught up with the growth of new power demand, and is now substantially exceeding it. The program will extend over a period of five years, and its goal is to establish a reserve capacity of 15 to 25 per cent.

To achieve that, 18,000,000 kilowatts of new generating capacity will be added by the end of 1951. And it may come as a surprise to those who have been confused by all the talk about public power to learn that more than 15,000,000 of those kilowatts will be installed by privately-owned companies. The electric industry is going quietly ahead and spending billions to serve the needs of America. It is creating enormous taxable assets for all units of government. Instead of tax-exempt special privilege properties such as the Federal power projects. It is selling the power at extremely low rates which must be approved by public regulatory agencies. It is demonstrating again that private enterprise works.

On The Firing Line

Some of the most interesting testimony given during the Congressional investigation into prices, which has been carried on by sub-committees in all sections of the country has come from retailers. They have appeared at all the hearings, and they have represented all kinds of retail business—chains, department stores, independents, specialty shops, food dealers, etc. And practically all of them have shown that markups are lower than in the past, that the expense of store operation has substantially increased, and that, in spite of heavy volume, net profits have declined.

This testimony is important in that it indicates the place of the retailer in the economic scheme of things. He is in the unfortunate position of being directly on the firing line of consumer ire—without being able to do anything about the high prices that keep consumer tempers at white heat. Most retailers were extremely reluctant to up their price tags. They resisted as long as possible. But economic pressure forced them inexorably into it. No store can long operate at a loss. So retailers have done the unavoidable, and passed the increases on to their customers.

The publicity the price investigation has received should give the consumer a better understanding of the situation. No one has proven, and few have even suggested, that their profiteering in retailing—aside from the few exceptions to the rule that are found in all businesses, industries, professions, and labor groups. Retailing's high sense of responsibility to the public has been proven.

Costs And Dollars

In a recent address, J. Carter Fort of the Association of American Railroads dealt with some economic facts which may come as a surprise to the average citizen.

The railroads, he said, are the victims of a drastically out-of-balance price structure. Since 1939, commodity prices and labor costs in general have increased from 60 to more than 100 per cent. Yet, in that period, freight charges have gone up only 17 1/2 per cent. This means, that judged in terms of prewar dollars, railroad freight rates are now 30 to 40 per cent less than they were before the war. And freight charges represent a much smaller part of the delivered value of commodities than in 1940 and other comparable years.

The railroads are still selling service at a price which is not much greater than in the prewar era—and must pay postwar labor, material and all other costs in order to provide it. The end result, if it were continued long enough, would be financial ruin for the industry. That, in substance, is the basis of the railroads' application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a freight rate increase which will provide the revenues for needed expansion, and will pay a moderate return on the lines' property investment.

Railroad rates—like all other prices—must reflect the going cost of carrying on the business. The wage increases granted railroad labor have been based on the fact that the cost of living has made higher pay for workers necessary. What is true for an individual is equally true for the industry which employs him. As Mr. Fort put it, "There is only one way to avoid the impoverishment of the railroad industry, and that is to recognize that the dollar it takes in now as freight charges are worth only a fraction of prewar dollars, and to make a corresponding adjustment of the level of freight rates."

The railroads cannot exist on the prewar dollar any better than can the wage earner.

Printing Center of the World

"Working on big printing presses has been my job for 20 years. I help print the millions of books, magazines and catalogs that publishers and mail order houses send every year to readers all over the world. In my lifetime I've seen this area take the lead in printing. The concentration of skilled labor and equipment in the graphic arts industries of this region is today unequalled anywhere in the world. "Printing is my business, and I'm glad I live and work where opportunities in my line, and many others, are greatest."

This pressman* is one of 70,000 skilled craftsmen who work in the tremendous printing industry in this area. The graphic arts group in this area is the most mechanically complete and widely diversified in the United States. It ranks first in number of employees, wages paid, number of establishments, and is highest in economic value. Located here are the three largest commercial printing plants in the world, as well as hundreds of smaller printing specialists with fine skills and equipment to meet every conceivable requirement as to artistry, economy, and flexibility of processes.

Everything from mail order catalogs to technical books is run off in the 3,100 printing plants in this region. Annually they produce a greater volume than any comparable area in the world. And today, to meet the ever-increasing needs of industries here, Northern Illinois is rapidly expanding in every field of commercial printing.

The postal zoning laws for second-class mailings passed in 1918 made Northern Illinois the most economical and strategic location for the printing of national publications. Within a radius of 500 miles are more than a third of the nation's readers and buyers and 39 per cent of the nation's manufacturing concerns. Magazines and catalogs, as well as products from manufacturers in this area, reach their destinations quickly and on time because of the unexcelled shipping facilities of Northern Illinois . . . the greatest transportation center in the world.

To industries seeking locations, skilled workers and strategic location are only two of the many advantages offered by the Northern Illinois territory. As an aid to those considering relocation, our Territorial Information Department will supply factual data concerning this area and pertinent to your business. This department will supply studies in as great detail as is required, confidentially and without charge.

Halloween Vandalism Prevented This Year Through Board Action

The determination of Antioch's village board and other leading citizens to have a sane Halloween got results this year, although it took police methods and an expense of nearly $100 to accomplish it.

With President George B. Bartlett active at the telephone in directing operations, village trustees became patrolmen and assisted the regular police and two special deputies in preventing vandalism.

The result was that there was no property damage to speak of and the village appeared clean and in order Saturday in contrast to last year when the main street was covered with manure, signs broken and small buildings distributed about the town. Only three privies were deposited in the village and those who delivered one of them were caught in the act and made to remove it. Others were likewise removed.

University Tells How To Save on Fuel Bills

Rising coal and fuel oil prices give point to information released by the Small Homes Council at the University of Illinois telling about home insulation, which can save as much as one-half the winter fuel bill—one shovelful of coal from every two.

Fifty percent is the saving estimate for a typical two-story frame house with wood or shingle siding to which light storm windows and doors, 4 inches of insulation between ceiling joist and 3 1/2 inches between wall studs is applied.

The facts about insulation and fuel saving, many resulting from years of careful research at the University are presented in a free eight page non-technical circular. The high spot in it is a table showing reductions in a fuel bill possible in eight typical types of construction for one-story and two-story homes.

Benefits of insulation, the circular says, include greater comfort by making walls and window surfaces warmer, reducing drafts, and making heat more uniform. Also walls and ceilings are cleaner because dust and dirt do not gather on warm surfaces as they do on cold. Good insulation will not attract insects and mice and will not form a fire hazard, will not absorb moisture and get soggy and will not deteriorate or settle, the circular explains.

Leading National Sales
Ernest C. Andreas local district manager for Johns-Manville "Blown In" Home Insulation, is for the second straight year leading the entire United States in sales volume of insulation. This is a very outstanding record for Mr. Andreas.

Auto License Plates For 1948 Already Sent To Distributing Points

Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett said today that his office had completed shipment of 1948 automobile license applications to 30,000 points throughout the State.

He said the deadline for applying for reassignment of numbers currently held by motorists is midnight Monday, December 1.

Motorists wishing to retain their present numbers were cautioned to note their requests for reassignment in the "Remarks" space on the application form. Unless this notation appears, Mr. Barrett explained, the staff handling the application has no way of knowing if an applicant desires reassignment, and the application is processed routinely.

To expedite handling of applications, Mr. Barrett also urged motorists to (1) fill out the form completely and correctly, (2) attach their 1947 registration card, (3) send the correct fee, and (4) have the completed form properly notarized.

Last year, the Secretary said, approximately thirty percent of all applications had to be returned for more or correct information or for correct fees before they could be processed. He emphasized that all of the information requested in the blanks is necessary, not only for processing purposes, but for the motorist's own protection in case of theft.

Application forms are available from daily and weekly newspapers, notaries public, currency exchanges, automobile dealers, banks, farm bureaus, automobile clubs, local police and other local centers.

SHORT STORY

Mrs. Halligan Expects

By
M. J. COLLINS

A NASTY spring blizzard whipped over the county from the east, then swung around into the west and came charging back with a cold viciousness. Every road in the county was smothered in white oblivion. We were gathered around the huge box stove in Jed's general store. A bunch of old coots were there, swapping tall tales and reminiscing about other storms.

"She's a gosh almighty blow!" Old Enoch Sifton took his pipe out of his mouth. "Sure raising bob with everything. Hate to be livin' on a back road and get sick."

"I'll say," Frank Hayes agreed. "You'd be hard put to get a doctor in now. This'd be about the time Mrs. Halligan would have another baby. It seems to me she always has them at just about the worst time of the year."

"The Halligans got too many kids," Old Enoch growled as if it were a personal affront. "They're running around like rabbits."

"Say, listen!" Frank Hayes exclaimed. "I hear sleigh bells." Sure enough we heard them above the storm.

"That's Curt Evans from up Halligan's way," I said as the man hollered "Whoa!" to the heaving, sweating team. We noticed a large bundle of blankets and covers in the back of the sleigh.

"Here's a list of groceries," Curt handed a slip of paper to Jed. He pulled up a chair and sat down, rolling himself a fat cigarette.

"Mrs. Halligan expectin'?" Frank opened the conversation cautiously. Curt is a big fellow, sort of saturnine. He lives all alone and you can never quite tell how he's going to take your questions.

Curt finally nodded. "Old man Halligan's sort of put out about it too. Says something always goes wrong with their figgerin'. He was hoping to have a spell of nice weather and now he's laid up with the flu."

"How many kids they got now?" Old Enoch growled. "Ten or eleven?"

Curt started counting them off on his fingers. "Edith, Judy, Ray—" and to on, "I don't know," he finally admitted.

The Halligan farm is next to Curt's so if anyone should know how many little Halligans there are, Curt's the man.

WE FIGURED he had come down to meet the train, it generally got to the village about two-thirty. Old Doc Horner would be aboard and Curt would drive him out to the Halligan's place swathed in the blankets we'd noticed in the sleigh.

Jed phoned across to the station and was told the train would be half an hour late.

Curt relaxed again. He had been getting ready to go and harness the horses in order to have them all set when the train arrived.

You can never quite tell how Curt is going to take your questions.

The talk went right back to babies. You would have been surprised to hear we knew so much about the subject.

"Think you'll have any trouble getting back over the road?" Frank asked Curt.

"I hope not. I want to get back as fast as possible."

The shrill whistle of the train sounded faintly.

"Well," Curt said, rising and reaching for his coat. "Guess it's time to harness up. Got them groceries, Jed?"

I went back to the stable with him to help. By the time the train got in he had the team ready and the groceries stowed away safely. We drove over to the station and loaded several perforated cardboard boxes full of peep-peeping yellow chicks onto the sleigh. Curt covered them carefully with the numerous blankets and covers we thought had been to wrap around Doc Horner. Then he indicated the store with his thumb.

"You can tell the boys that what Mrs. Halligan expected has arrived—all four hundred of them." He grinned at me as he drove away.

Grass Lake School . . .

In 1912 the present schoolhouse was built. At that time, school was held two or three months in the winter and two or three months in the summer.

In the summer months the pupils were mostly the smaller children because the older ones had to work on the farms. There were no grades. The classes went through only the sixth reader. Many pupils were much older than now, some even attending school after their marriage. There was no water on the school grounds.

Jim Hanrahan, who attended school at this time, remembers when water was carried from Yopp's or Trieger's in a large pail. A dipper in the bucket was always handy for thirsty youngsters and no one thought of germs. Barney Trieger was director of the school for thirty-five years. His wife, Bessie, was one of the early teachers. Punch and Judy shows were the popular means of entertainment in those days. Dances also were held in the various homes, especially in the winter time. The girls played chords on the melodian and the boys played horns and violins.

After the dance there was always refreshments—oyster, stew and sandwiches. Grass Lake maintained a post office at the corner of Grass Lake road and Bluff Lake road from 1886 to 1905 when rural carrier service was begun. The first carrier was Ellis Sabin. John Beebe and Fred Loof also carried mail from Antioch. Many times when the roads were closed because of snow drifts or high water these men carried the mail on foot.

The first electric lights were installed in the school about the year 1921 and the money was acquired through a basket social held at the school. In the ensuing years many improvements were brought about—running water, washrooms, modern desks, indirect lighting, oil heat, a library and a basement were added. Playground equipment was purchased and a garage built.

Many of these improvements were the result of hard work of the Parent Teacher Association which was organized in 1936. Mrs. McCorkle was the first president of the organization in this community. Parties were held at the various resorts to raise funds for improvements in the school and a large crowd always turned out to make the affairs a big success.

In 1938 all requirements were met to make the school a "Superior School" and it has since maintained these standards. With so many former summer residents making their permanent homes in the Grass Lake area, the population increased to such an extent that our little one-room schoolhouse proved inadequate to handle the additional number of students attending. In order to accommodate the full amount, school has been held in two "shifts," the younger students attending the morning classes and the older students attending the afternoon classes. This situation brought about the necessity of building a new school, one that would be large enough to accommodate all the young people of the community.

In 1946, land was purchased from Walter Manz for a sum of $4500.00. This land adjoined the old school on the north. In April of this same year a $70,000.00 bond was voted on and passed. The school board accepted bids and found that this amount was not enough to build the type of school they wanted (two rooms and a gymnasium). In June, 1947 an additional bond of $62,000.00 was voted on and passed. However, the total amount of $132,000.00 still did not allow for a gymnasium, although it did allow for a very modern building consisting of two large rooms.

Contract was awarded to John Hess and Son on August 18, 1947 and ground was broken on August 20. Mr. Leo Strelka, architect who designed St. Peter's Church in Antioch, drew up the plans for the building. It was hoped that the new school would be in use by Christmas but as this is being written (October) there appears little or no hope of the building being completed before the end of this school term.

Movies of the progress of the building are being taken by Charley Haling for the Parent-Teacher Association and will be the property of the school to be shown on their projector at future events to be held in the school.

In 1898 men's oxfords were shown for the first time in Binghamton, N. Y. They were made of light calfskin and retailed for $2.50 a pair. The store owner who purchased them, insisted that he had been stuck with his purchase and wanted tops put on them so that they would sell.

Less Wisconsin Dairies

Postwar readjustments of the Wisconsin dairy industry has resulted in a decline in the number of dairy manufacturing plants in that state. Last year's decrease in dairy plant numbers is about average, figures since 1941 showing an annual drop of about 100. Better transportation is held largely responsible for the decrease.

"So I simply made a telephone call..."

Few things are more simple than making a telephone call. Few are more complex than making that call possible.

There are 316 separate parts in the manual type telephone alone; 433 parts in the dial type. But the telephone itself is only 1/17th of all the equipment Illinois Bell needs to put your calls through — wires, cables, batteries, switchboards with millions of connections. All kinds of apparatus and buildings to house it.

As more telephones are added, the equipment needed per telephone multiplies. Today, every time you make a telephone call, you set in motion a system which grows more and more complex for us to operate as it becomes easier and faster for you to use.

A $250,000,000 improvement program is bringing better telephone service your way.

Farm Adviser Nicholas Wins $2,200 Award for Paper on Arc Welding

Ray T. Nicholas, Grayslake, Lake County, Ill., Farm Adviser with the Lake County Farm Bureau won the second place award of $2200.00 on a paper submitted in the Commercial Welding Foundation's $2000.00 Design for Progress Award Program.

The paper consisted of 124 double-spaced typed pages and fourteen full pages of mounted photographs. Small photographs, sample newspaper ads, order forms and weekly reports were inserted and pasted to the pages throughout the book.

The Design for Progress Award Program was world-wide. Award winners were from practically every country including Palestine, England, Africa, Canada, Australia, Belgium, Italy, Brazil, Sweden and Mexico.

The subject of Mr. Nicholas's book was "Setting Up and Operating a Welding Job Shop." Every important phase was covered including equipment; shop layout; heating and lighting; hiring; training; and managing the men; getting business thru advertising; personal contacts, circular letters, newspaper stories; pricing work; and keeping records and accounts.

Mr. Nicholas attended the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture and graduated there in 1930 with a Bachelor of Science Degree. Following his graduation he was vocational agriculture instructor at Princeville, Peoria County, Illinois, for seven years. From 1937 to 1941 Mr. Nicholas served as farm adviser in Schuyler County, Illinois. In 1941 he went to Lake County, Ill., as Farm Adviser, a position which he still holds.

His chief hobby is photography; he does a considerable amount of writing, and also raises South American Chinchillas in partnership with his two brothers.

In the $37,500 Agricultural Award and Scholarship Program sponsored by the Foundation in 1945-46, Mr. Nicholas won second place award of $2600 in Division II (Agricultural Education and Services) and his award entitled the University of Illinois College of Agriculture at Urbana to four scholarships at $1000 each, such scholarships to be known as the Ray T. Nicholas Scholarship of the Lincoln Foundation.

School Reorganization Survey Time Running Short, Warns College

Time is running out for county survey committees established for planning school district reorganization, the University of Illinois Bureau of Research and Service, College of Education, warned today.

The deadline for final reports is January 1. Preliminary plans for school district reorganization must be prepared by December 1, and public hearings must be held before final reports are made. The final plan must be accepted or rejected by a vote of the people of a county within the first nine months of 1948.

Of the 93 counties in which survey committees were established in 1945, only six have submitted final reports to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Twenty-two others have submitted preliminary reports. No reports have been filed by the remaining 65 counties.

Ten of the counties have recommended a county-community-unit district, which generally brings all public schools of a county under a single administrative board of education. Fifteen have recommended two or more community-unit districts, with all of the schools of an urban center and surrounding territory under a single board. Three have retained the dual system, which places high schools and elementary schools under different boards and often superimposes the high school district over several elementary school districts.

According to the U. of I. Bureau, educators have generally agreed that a unit district, which places both elementary and secondary schools under a single board of education, is "highly desirable." At present, the Bureau points out, a majority of the school districts in Illinois are too small to operate economically.
